Business leaders say that one-third of the time spent in business meetings is unproductive. Here’s how 2,000 business leaders* ranked the four most important ingredients of a good meeting.

- Adequate preparation
- Agreement on followup action
- Having an effective moderator
- Staying on track

These are good points to consider about your 4-H club meetings. This also shows why learning how to run a good meeting in 4-H now will help later in life. Meetings are held in all careers. Good meetings help to get things done. Poor meetings don’t.

If your club would like help in getting organized and running meetings, contact the 4-H office. The county 4-H staff can help. They can even attend one of your meetings to assist. The following information should also help.

A 4-H club needs to meet regularly at a regular place and time. Moving a meeting date to meet the whims of the group may help get more members to a meeting in the short run. However, in the long run, members may become confused about meeting dates. Irregular meetings can also make it difficult for new members to merge well into the club.

The best way to set an acceptable meeting schedule is for the club to vote and to abide by majority rule. This is generally done at the first (organizational) meeting when the club is established. It is included in a club’s constitution. After that, it should change only when the membership and its needs drastically change. (A revision of the constitution would be needed.) Obtaining parental

Meetings Are Held Often

A club can’t accomplish its goals if it doesn’t meet often enough. How often is enough? This depends on the club, its members, and their projects. However, all clubs should meet at least once a month. Many clubs meet as often as once a week. Except for a major holiday month, or around county fair time, clubs should meet throughout the year.

Every meeting should have several parts. The order of these parts isn’t as crucial as having each part. Each meeting should include:

- a chance for members to interact socially.

- business session. The officers should run this part of the meeting, with leader guidance. (See 4-H Club Meeting Agenda and Running a Smooth 4-H Business Meeting) A business session doesn’t have to be part of every meeting, but probably should be held at least once a month and other times as needed.

- educational program/project work. This is generally guided by the leader. The program portion could be work on 4-H projects, a guest speaker, an educational videotape, and/or public presentations given by members.

Vary the kinds of things done throughout the year. Encourage officer/member involvement. Help them decide what they want to do most. As an adult leader, your primary duty is to guide the members in making sound decisions and following through with their decisions.
