Developmental Disabilities Training Series

The Developmental Disabilities Training Series provides valuable training for Cooperative Extension and organizations which offer programs to individuals or audiences who have developmental disabilities.

Topics include:
- Overview of Developmental Disabilities
- Disabilities and Learning
- Understanding and Managing Behavior
- Visual Supports
- Understanding Disabilities Laws and Making Program Adaptations

The Developmental Disabilities Training Series was created by Rutgers Cooperative Extension faculty Michelle F. Brill, Family & Community Health Sciences Educator and Jeannette Rea-Keywood, State 4-H Agent.

Developmental Disabilities Training Series is offered as a full-day or half-day workshop and can be adapted to meet your organization’s needs.
